35.5% of all students strongly disagree that sexual violence is a not a problem on campus.

20.5% of all students strongly disagree that there is nothing much they can do about sexual violence on campus.
29.5% of all students strongly disagree that there isn’t much need for them to think about sexual violence on campus.

42.2% of all students strongly disagree that doing something about sexual violence is solely the job of the crisis center.
11.9% of all students strongly disagree that they should not learn more about sexual violence.

14.5% of all students strongly disagree that they have not yet done anything to learn more about sexual violence.
15.4% of all students strongly disagree that they cannot do something about sexual violence.

Readiness to help is measured on a scale of 1 (strongly agree) to 5 (strongly disagree) scale. Reported level of not planning to learn more about the problem of sexual violence on campus.

10.6% of all students strongly disagree that they will not be planning to learn more about the problem of sexual violence on campus.
8.4% of all students strongly disagree that they have not recently attended a program about sexual violence.

3.1% of all students strongly disagree they are not actively involved in projects to deal with sexual violence on campus.
4% of all students strongly disagree that they have not recently taken part in activities or volunteered my time on projects focused on ending sexual violence on campus.

Readiness to help is measured on a scale of 1 (strongly agree) to 5 (strongly disagree) scale. Reported level of not been or am currently involved in ongoing efforts to end sexual violence on campus.

4% of all students strongly disagree that they have not been or am currently involved in ongoing efforts to end sexual violence on campus.
Mean measure of readiness to help on a 1 (strongly agree) to 5 (strongly disagree) scale. Reported level of readiness to help fight sexual violence on campus.

On average, students are not sure if they are ready to help fight sexual violence on campus.