

Dear SASC students,

We understand that after reading yesterday's COVID-19 update from senior leadership that you may have questions about your SASC accommodations. We are here to support you during this transition to distributed or fully virtual modalities of instruction. Please carefully read the information below.

SASC will continue to provide academic accommodations and services to students who are registered with our office and will continue to accept applications for services. I encourage you to email your SASC counselor directly if you anticipate needing additional accommodations based on virtual instruction. If you are not sure who your counselor is, you may email your requests to sascinfo@sdsu.edu. Your request may require a follow-up phone or virtual meeting with your counselor.

Please remember that it is your responsibility to provide instructors with your SASC accommodation letter, especially if your accommodations have been altered for virtual instruction. SASC cannot send letters to instructors on your behalf, but please let your SASC counselor know if you are having challenges with your accommodation letters.

The SASC Test Accommodation Center (TAC) will remain open during regular business hours to administer accommodated exams. You may use the TAC in person if a) you do not have access to an appropriate test environment at home, b) it is difficult for your instructor to provide the approved accommodation of extra exam time through a virtual format, and/or c) your approved accommodations are not available on a virtual format (e.g. reader, writer (scribe), sign language interpreter). Please be assured that the TAC exam rooms will be disinfected on a daily basis.

The SASC High Tech Center will also remain open with modified hours for students who require access to alternative media and assistive technology. Please visit www.sdsu.edu/sasc for updated hours of operation.

Students who normally use sign language interpreters should continue to communicate course information, changes, needs, and/or concerns to SASCinterpreting@sdsu.edu.

Cart/mobility services will continue to run, but we ask that you please email SASCinfo@sdsu.edu as soon as possible if you will no longer need cart services this semester.

Please continue to communicate concerns and/or needs directly to your SASC counselor throughout the remainder of the semester. You may schedule in-person, phone, or virtual meetings with our counselors via SASC Connect or by calling our main line: (619) 594-6473. WorkAbility IV, TRIO SSS, and the High Tech Center will also continue services and you may contact the respective offices to schedule meetings or request services.

Also, visit SDSU's COVID-19 web page for information, as the site is regularly updated.

Sincerely,
Erica A. Aros
Interim Director
